

PQA 2019

LEADERSHIP SUMMIT

Collaborating to Address National Health Concerns

November 20 - 21, 2019 • Renaissance Arlington Capital View Hotel • Arlington, VA

The 2019 PQA Leadership Summit is an interactive, hands-on meeting that will equip PQA members with meaningful and actionable learnings to address four leading national health concerns. We will focus on areas important to improving health outcomes – and where PQA can support your work:

- Access to Care - Social determinants of health can hinder patient medication access and contribute to poor health outcomes. Explore how quality measurement and new models of care delivery can improve medication access and support value-based care.
- Interoperability and Quality - Electronic clinical data-based measures are the future of quality measurement. Explore the current and future opportunities to make quality measures interoperable across provider types and care settings.
- Opioid Use Disorder - Opioid use disorder, a life-threatening medical condition developed through prolonged opioid use, is one facet of the opioid epidemic. Despite evidence-based therapy for opioid use disorder, many individuals receive little or no treatment. Explore the intersection of clinical practice, population health, and quality intersect in uncharted area of opioid management.
- Value-Based Models - Explore how to define value between payers and providers, where outcomes, including medication adherence, clinical status and patient satisfaction, can be tracked, measured and rewarded.

As an attendee, you will participate in facilitated workgroups to address the issues that matter to you. The meeting is a collaborative forum to leverage the expertise of our staff, national thought leaders, and your fellow PQA member organizations. Together, we'll identify strategies and solutions for addressing these areas across PQA's four roles in healthcare quality: convening, measure development, research, and education.

Participants will receive concise pre-meeting reading materials to inform discussions and help you identify areas where your organization's work can be strengthened through expanded initiatives or partnerships. Here are some additional details on the meeting's format:

- Attendees will be divided among the four issue tracks (You will rank your preferences)
- Each track will explore opportunities in convening, measure development, research, and education
- Experienced facilitators, subject experts and PQA staff will guide and support the discussion
- Each session will leverage a different active learning technique to facilitate an engaged and productive meeting

By the end of the meeting attendees will have:

- Strategies and solutions to help address the four health concerns
- An expanded network as a result of the collaborative workgroup sessions/method of the meeting
- A commitment from PQA to further leverage its work as a convener, measure developer, researcher, and educator in support of you and your organization.

Attendance is open to PQA member organizations only and there is no registration fee. Please coordinate your registration with your organization's PQA Key Member Contact. Direct any questions about the Leadership Summit to PQA at education@PQAalliance.org.
